

PROPOSED INTERACTIVE MONITOR FOR WASECA ART CENTER - REQUEST

Project Goal: to provide an informative visual experience for passer-byers as well as WAC guests entering our facility. We can personalize greetings for speakers, concerts, workshops, etc. as well as showcase artwork and information in a stimulating and non obtrusive environment.

We will also be adding wifi routers so that the entire building is accessible with quality signal strength for guests, staff, and board members.

Current photos of WAC Entry where monitor would go

We have been utilizing our glass storefront glazing with much success. Having a monitor will allow us to inform and showcase even more art for the community.

Exterior photo showing our evening street presence; as long as the monitor stays inside the building we are permitted to use this location to advertise WAC events and schedules.

About the Artist

Cole Nyquist is a photographer and woodworker from southern Minnesota. Cole developed an interest in Old Norse studies while attending St. Olaf College, majoring in Medieval Studies and Norwegian with concentrations in Linguistics and Nordic Studies. After graduating from St. Olaf, he attended the Viking and Medieval Norse Masters Program offered jointly by the Universities of Iceland, Oslo, Aarhus, and Copenhagen. Cole studied Old Norse religion, history, and philology and lived in Iceland and Norway during his studies, completing the program with a Masters of Philosophy and writing his thesis on compositional techniques and perceptions of authorship in Skaldic poetry.

While studying abroad and traveling throughout Europe and the United States, Cole developed a love for photography and taught himself how to take and edit photographs of his travels. Returning to the United States, he also began to teach himself woodworking with the help of his father. Seeing an opportunity to bring his education and love of Old Norse language, poetry, and runic writing into his work, Cole began to create various woodworking projects incorporating Old Norse designs and runes through pyrography and carving.
